

Programs for teachers in France.

Most French universities offer summer courses for language teachers.

This is the link from the French Embassy in the USA which offers grants for K-12 French teachers in the States who are American citizens [you can't be French]: <http://www.frenchculture.org/spip.php?rubrique516&tout=ok>

The AATF [American Association of Teachers of French] offers scholarships as well:

<http://www.frenchteachers.org/hq/summerscholarships.htm>

The Alliance française in France offers language courses as well. Here is the link to the Alliance française in Bordeaux:

www.alliance-bordeaux.org

Use www.google.fr and use this phrase to search: stages pedagogiques d'ete pour professeurs du FLE

There are many sites that are listed. If you are interested in a particular region of France, then google a city and look for university summer courses or courses through a branch of the Alliance française.

Also, many American universities offer summer abroad programs, some which allow the participants to earn a Master degree. Middlebury College, Harvard University etc.